

A1 Design will be a web development agency website, where clients can visit and find out more information on how services A1 Design can provide them.

Annotation:

1. Call to action “Get Started”, the main point of this website is to gain more clients, which is why the first content of information the user will see is how to become a client. I chose a carousel due to the fact that it is a tool that is visual, therefore the user can get a sense of what type of work A1 Design does.

In order to give users a further understanding on what type of services A1 Designs provides, I chose to have a section that depicts the top three areas A1 Design focuses on. The action items 2,3, and 4 are “Learn More/Explore” buttons that would lead to a different page that goes more into depth on that particular area. The style that I am going for is simple and sleek.
